Please note: The completed eligible applications received will establish a chronological waiting list. Meaning the time you submit the pre-application has no effect on your position on the waiting list. There are cases of applicants flooding the website as soon as a scheduled online waiting list opens, causing the website to crash for a period of time. If the website is down, it will eventually be back up to accept pre-applications.

This waiting list has preferences. This means that applicants who qualify for these preferences will receive assistance before applicants who do not. Because of their preferences, it is likely applicants who do qualify will have a long wait to receive assistance, or will not receive assistance from this office.

To apply, complete the online pre-application. The pre-application is available in English and Spanish. Computers and smart phones may be used to access the pre-application. If an applicant does not have access to the Internet, they can use a computer at a local library.
